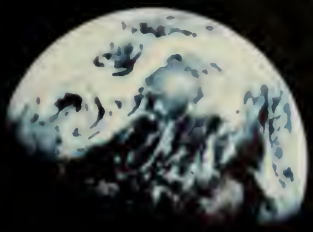
COPING WITH THE UNEXPECTED . . .



1980 TERRAPIN
VOLUME 79
UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
COLLEGE PARK MD. 20742

I was warned
Not to act too strong,

Try to look like you belong but don't push

I was raised in a "No You Don't World," Overrun with rules
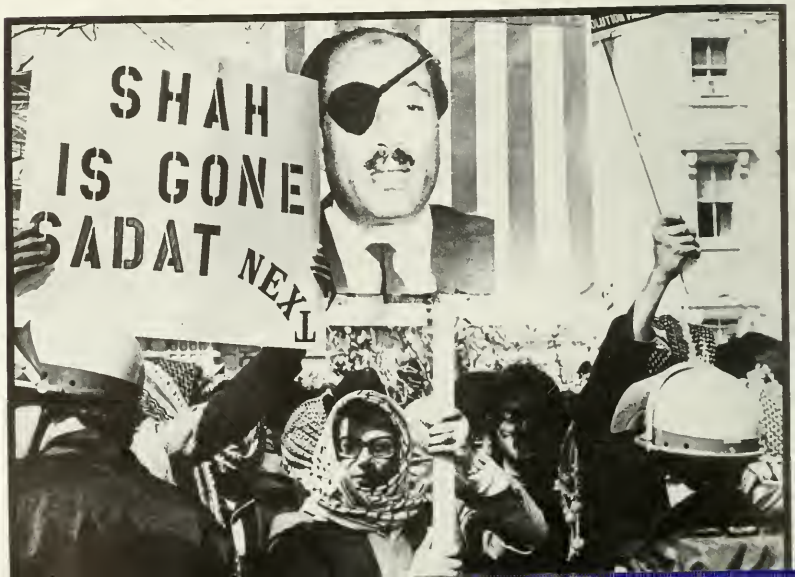
Memorize your lines and move as directed.

That's an age old story.

But you and I are changing that tune
We're learning new rhythms.



I believe
there's a best of both worlds-mixing old and new,

recognizing change is seldom expected.

They believe that strange was a word for wrong,

well not in my song

Cause you and I are changing that tune.

ONCE UPON A MATTRESS

Top: The jester (C.G. Bolcik, Jr.) and King Sextimus the Silent are plotting to find out the test Princess Winnifred will have to perform.

Right: Princess Winnifred sings to the town and one of the men (Michael Kyle) explaining of how she is so shy.

Bottom: The jester (G. G. Bolcik, Jr.), Prince Dauntless (Steven Blanchard), and the minstrel (Merle Cunningham) sing of their success in helping Princess Winnifred pass Queen Aggravain's test.

CLASH

THE ORIGINAL FETTISH

THE SHADOW BOX

Felicity (Mary Jean King) was a woman who was terminally ill and who only lives to see her daughter come home. But the daughter has been dead for years. Her other daughter, Agnes has been writing letters from the dead daughter pretending that she's on a trip.

Steve (Jonathon Lipscomb) was a teenager who was told by his mother (Karen Russo) that his father (David Shroder) was dying. He was able to cope with it, better than his mother had expected.

Agnes (Susan Warner) was a very quiet girl, who loved her mother and tried to make her happy by writing the fake letters to her mother and reading them to her.

"NOBODY" AN EVENING WITH

Top: Bert Williams is intently listening to a job offer from the stage. Through this job he is hoping to finally escape the black face act and become a regular actor.
Bottom: Here, Williams is mourning over the death of his dancing partner.

BERT WILLIAMS

Top: Williams, is a lion tamer inside of a cage with a lion, who is scared stiff. But the lion turns out to be a man dressed in a lion's suit.
Bottom: After years of attempting to escape his black face, but he still must wear the face he has.

HSU- HOW TO MAKE A MILLION WITHOUT REALLY TRYING

STUDENTS MARCHED ACROSS CAMPUS DEMANDING BETTER PROTECTION AGAINST RAPE

IS THE SKY FALLING?

NO, IT'S SKYLAB

Sixty-three seconds into the initial launch of Skylab, the meteroid shield broke which caused loss of solar array. So when the first crew arrived they erected a parasol reflector that was deployed through an airlock to bring the temperature (then over 120 F) to a bearable level.

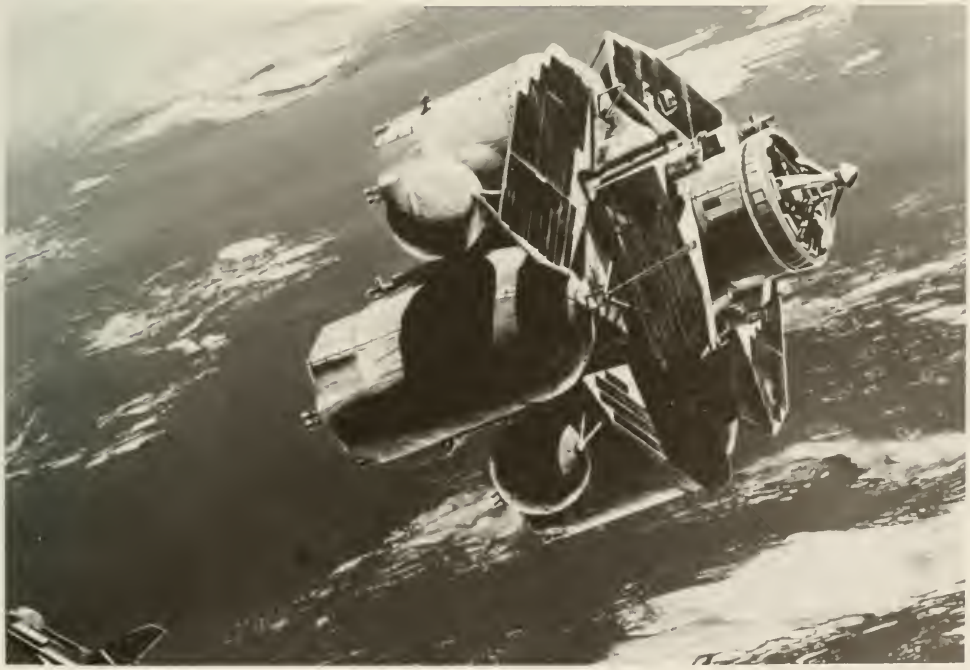
In 1977, plans were initiated to rendevous with Skylab on an early flight of the Space Shuttle, containing the Teleoperator Retrieval System (TRS), an external rocket device able to either reboost the lab to extend its lifetime or deorbit in a remote ocean area. After active control of Skylab was re-established in Mid - 1978, and after reorientation into a low-drag attitude (to minimize the rate of decay) attempted, the rate of orbital decay increased due to Solar activity, and TRS development was scrapped.

When impact occurred (July 11, 1979) NASA estimated that there was one chance in 152 that there would be any injury on Earth. NASA foresaw that 500 pieces of debris are capable of causing injury. Over half of these weight under 10 pounds, near 40 weight over 250 pounds, ten are over 1,000 pounds, and two are over 3900 pounds. But since most of the flight trojectory was over water, there were no injuries or damages as expected. At least 18 fragments were definitely found in Australia and identified as Skylab.

The Skylab program was conceived in 1966 by NASA, using surplus Apollo hardware and it extended the practical flight duration from two weeks to several months and achieved numerous advances in space science and technology.

The experimental program included over 50 scientific, technological, and medical experiments. The three crews spent 740 hours observing the Sun with telescopes and brought home more than 17,500 solar photographs. Biomedical findings indicated that people could adapt and function in space for long periods of time.

There were biological effects that could not be explained. For instance the crew grew 1-2 inches taller, lost muscle mass and lost weight. In the weightless environment, their body's calves and thighs reduced in size as fluids moved up from the legs. (Several days after splashdown they were all back to normal). Also there was a noticable decrease in the ability of astronauts to taste, a phenomenon scientists cannot yet explain.



JIM HENSON AND MUPPETS CHEER

The 1979 Homecoming was once again a huge success. This year it was under the direction of Rob Maggin and Gwen Buttling.

The festivities began with selecting Kim Brown as the Black Homecoming Pageant Queen, on Sunday.

The next event was the Arts and Crafts Fair, directed by Randi Penn, on Tuesday. The festivities continued with a disco night, supervised by Barbara Hamilton and Kim Mortenson at the Mezzanine from 9pm to 1am. At the disco there was a complimentary dance lesson followed by a dance contest with prizes and trophies awarded.

The Window Decorating Contest was held on Wednesday, with Delta Gamma and Phi Sigma Kappa winning first place, Pi Beta Phi and Delta Epsilon placing second, and Alpha Phi and Theta Chi in third place.

The Annual Terrapin Derby contest came next and was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Gamma Rho.

On Thursday was the Las Vegas Night held at the Student Union, supervised by Paul Stecher. At this casino there was something for everyone; from Backgammon to Black Jack.

Then on Friday the Homecoming Parade was held with Grand Marshall Jim Henson and his wife leading the parade and who would later help judge the floats.

The float that won for overall was constructed by Alpha Xi Delta and Zeta Psi. The regency award was presented to Somerset and Calvert.

There was also a special contest this year, the Miss Piggy look-alike, which was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma.

ACADEMICS

THE DIVISION OF AGRICULTURAL AND LIFE SCIENCES

Dr. Francis C. Stark
Provost of Agricultural and Life Sciences

After a healthy 50% boost of enrollment from the Fall of 1974 to the Fall of 1977, the Agriculture and Life Sciences Division has now settled into a slow decline in majors, but not in ambition, or plans for the future.

Although enrollment has declined over the past two years, Dr. Stark says, "This division remains popular because we provide programs that deal with some of the major issues of the day; feeding the world, improving the environment, and increasing the effectiveness of health sciences."

The division, which includes the College of Agriculture (under a seperate dean), and various majors such as Pre-Medicine, Pre-Denistry, and Pre-Forestry has expanded in both scopes and efficiency during Dr. Stark's tenure as provost.

One of Dr. Stark's chief contributions was the creation of a General Biological Sciences major, which now boasts as having the largest number of students in the division, with 500 registered majors. In addition, other major and minor changes have benefited the division.

The general studies of students in the division contain a basic Chemistry course, a Biology course, and Math 110. In addition, a person majoring in the division will most likely take several Chemistry and Biology courses. But the twenty-five basic majors within the division are for the most part seperate entities, each having a distinct field of concentration.

"There are a few soft spots, but we provide for all pre-meds, pre-vets, and pre-denistry students that go on to medical school. And 20 to 25% of our students go on to graduate studies," says Dr. Stark. The division is under constant review, seeking to improve in the responsiveness to the needs of the students.

HARRISON LABORATORY

THE DIVISION OF ARTS AND HUMANITIES

Dr. Shirley Strum Kenny
Provost of Arts & Humanities

There has been a growing demand for people trained in languages and writing skills in the non-academic world, said Dr. Kenny, Provost for the Arts and Humanities Division.

This division is divided into a humanities department consisting of history, English, and the languages units, to name a few. The art department includes such studies as, theater, art, dance, and music. There are also the Colleges of Journalism and Architecture found in this division. The American and Women's Studies are combined with the Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences.

In this division there is quite an emphasis placed on internships since most of the units are more of applying what one learns in the classes to practical experience.

LUKE'S

THE DIVISION OF BEHAVIORAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

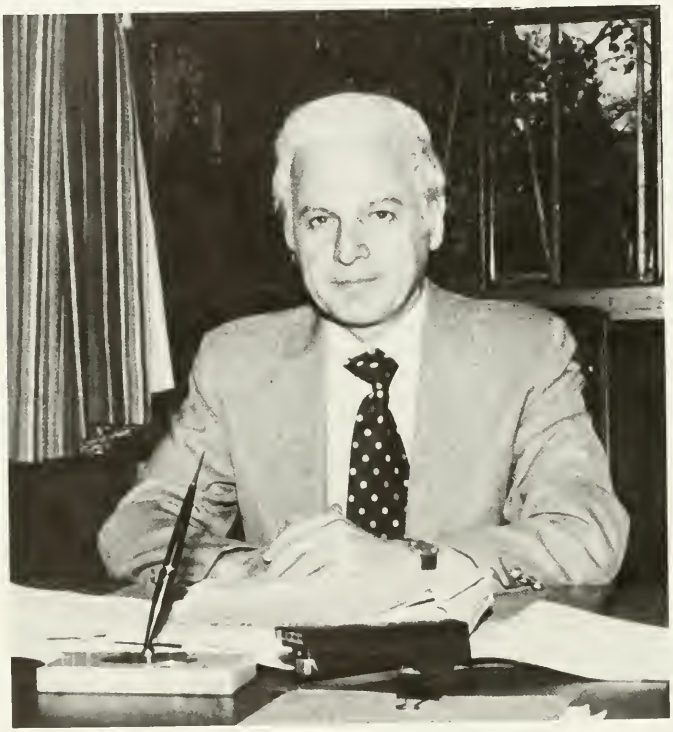
Dr. Murray Polakoff
Provost of Behavioral and Social Sciences

In the Behavioral and Social Sciences Division, the curriculum is geared towards the practical application of the units and upgrading the teaching, to meet the needs and demands of students and to basically increase the academic qualities, said Dr. Polakoff, Provost for this division.

The division is divided into the behavioral sciences, such as, economics, psychology, sociology, and anthropology, to name a few. The other department involves social sciences, such as, hearing and speech sciences, criminal justice and criminology, to name a few. There is also the College of Business and Management found under this division.

Since Dr. Polakoff has been provost many changes are occuring within this division to produce a more appropriate program that will give the students a more applied and disciplined method for their major. He has stressed the importance of enhancing the opportunities of students who are graduating. After all, the faculty is there to serve the clientele (students) in their demands. In this respect students demand a systematic way of learning their field and being prepared for their career when they graduate.

THE DIVISION OF HUMAN AND COMMUNITY RESOURCES



Dr. George J. Funaro
Provost of Human and Community Resources

Students are prepared for jobs directly related to their major after completing their undergraduate studies, said Dr. Funaro, Provost for the Division of Human and Community Resources.

The division is broken down into many units and subunits. There are several colleges that fall under this division, they are: Education, Human Ecology, Library and Information Services, Physical Education, Recreation and Health. Then there are departments such as; Family and Community Development, Food Nutrition and Instutition, Housing and Applied Design, and Measurement and Statistics. Under these different studies are classes such as; nutrition, interior design, consumer economics, industrial technology, and home economics.

In view of the breakdown of the division students are more specialized in a field and jobs are easier to come by, especially in the fields of Education and Recreation and Human Resources.

THE DIVISION OF MATHEMATICS AND PHYSICAL SCIENCES AND ENGINEERING

Dr. Frank J. Kerr
Provost of Mathematics and Physical Sciences and Engineering

"There is an increase in the Mathematical and Physical Sciences and Engineering Division due to the ongoing demand in technological fields in the United States and the world," said Provost Frank J. Kerr. There has especially been an enrollment increase in the Engineering and Computer Science courses.

This division is divided into the College of Engineering. This college is subdivided into Aerospace, Chemical, and Nuclear, Civil, Electrical, Fire Protection, Mechanical, and Engineering Technology.

The other courses under this division are: Computer Science, Mathematics, Physics and Astronomy, Physics, and Physical Sciences.

Dr. Kerr added, that "environmentalists have been persuading the public to pursue these fields for they will lead the way to a more technological future."

THE DIVISION OF INDIVIDUAL AND GENERAL STUDIES

Dr. William Grohman
Provost of Individual and General Studies

The Individual Studies Program, known as "design your own major," and the General Studies Program, offers an "option for students," said Dr. Grohman, Provost for these programs.

Individual Studies Program is for students whose goals cannot be achieved through the existing University curriculum. Students are allowed to design their own major with the approval of the Individual Studies Review Committee (three faculty members). Students must have a proposal of what their prospective major is and how it relates to what they want to do after graduation.

The General Studies is not as regimented as the Individual Studies Program, so its flexibility provides an alternative educational structure outside of a specific department. Students may create their own curriculum by combining related courses from several departments, by exploring two or three distinctly seperate interests, or by choosing a variety of courses from throughout the University. The program developed by students must meet specific educational and employment goals.

Therefore, these programs are not considered "undecided" since their proposed curriculum will eventually prepare them for a career.

CONSECUTIVE PLAYOFF BID

The 1979 University Lacrosse Team under the leadership of Coach C.A. "Bud" Beardmore continued its trend of national dominance. The Terrapins, ranked second nationally, compiled a regular season record of 9-1.

The season, for the most part was successful, with the only elusion being that of a national championship. The Terrapins compiled victories over Mt. Washington 17-12, the defending Club Champion, and ACC rival Virginia 17-13 to take the ACC Championship. The only loss during the regular season came at the hands of Johns Hopkins during a closely battled game. The game was held close until the end when Hopkins went on top by two goals with only minutes remaining. The Terrapins, however failing to give up came back to tie the score at 12-12. Hopkins then scored on a power goal to take the lead to eventually win 13-12.

The Terrapins, who maintained good depth, were only crippled by one major injury, that being to All-American midfielder Pete Worstell, who was bothered throughout the year with back and shoulder problems. The return of Worstell should prove to be a positive fact or in the Terrapin's hunt to the national championship in the coming year. Another bad turn for the Terps was the elimination of the face-off, a traditionally strong spot for the Terrapins. The face-off, however was put back into play for the upcoming season.

After the regular season, the Terrapins entered the playoffs for the ninth consecutive year. In the opening round, the Terrapins battled a tough Syracuse squad, who played the entire game tough. The Terrapins, however prevailed 16-13 to gain the right to play in the semi-finals for the ninth straight year. The game pitted Maryland against Navy, with the Terrapins coming out the victor 15-10. Next came the right to play for the national championship at College Park. The Terrapins came out fired up and took the early lead, only to have Hopkins come back to tie the score up at the end of the quarter. That was as close as the game was with Hopkins coming out exploding in the second quarter. Hopkins went on to win the game 15-9 to shatter any hopes the Terrapins had of a national championship, while Hopkins prevailed for the second consecutive year.

Eight Terps played impressively enough to gain All-American honors. These honors were bestowed upon Bob Boneillo and Barry Mitchell, who made first team cudos. John Lamen and Bob Ott received second team honors, while Ed Prey received third team honors. Honorable Mention awards were given to Randy Ratliff, Bryant Waters and Ron Martinello. Boneillo also received the honor of being named ACC Player of the Year along with Attackman of the Year across the country. John Lamen and Randy Ratliff also participated in the annual North-South game played at U.M.B.C. They also received the honor of being named the captains of the South squad.

The Terrapins, who lost their entire defense due to graduation, will find themselves in somewhat of a rebuilding stage. However, with the return of a powerful offense, Maryland may once again find themselves in the thick of another national championship race.

WOMENS' LACROSSE STYX THROUGH 10-6 SEASON

The Womens' Lacrosse Team, under the direction of Suzanne Tyler, continued a winning streak by a 10-6 record. The team captured its third consecutive Maryland College Womens' Lacrosse Association Championship by defeating Salisbury (24-2), Johns Hopkins (17-1), and their rival: Towson State (13-3).

The season was characterized by one point games. In their every loss, the team missed by one goal while their wins were by a substantial margin. The team had a high outlook on the season, they managed to place sixth in the country at the National AIAW Tournament. Judy Dougherty with 40 goals and 37 assists and Lisa Pierce with 36 goals and 22 assists combined to total 80% of the team's scoring.

Many individual and team records were eclipsed by the team, their 183 total goals broke the previous mark of 151. They scored 26 goals against Essex which was a high. In playing Johns Hopkins, only one goal against them to tie a record held from 1975.

The individual marks were set by Judy Dougherty, who tallied six assists in a single game, 37 for the season, 11 points in a single game and 77 for the overall season. The goalie, Denise Wescott broke two records, she previously held by accumulating 190 saves for the season and 22 against West Chester for a single game record.

Sandy Lanahan and Tracie Duncan added support when needed, while Patty Foster added a strong depth on defense.

1st Row (l to r): Laura LeMire, Denise Wescott, Tami Gannon, (captain), Sue Critchfield (captain), Joanne Lindblade, M. O'Connell, Amy Schreiber, Sue Brown, P. FALTER THROUGH SEASON

The Mens' Tennis Team, coached by Royal P. Doyles, had a mediocre 7-10 record. Bad weather and the loss of a key player caused the season a unfortunate disadvantage.

The team co-captains, John Olson and Robert Weise didn't play that badly. The loss of Peppy Boveda after three weeks into the season was unexpected. Boveda took advantage of a six year medical school scholarship. The team's hopes for a winning season were shadowed by rain which cancelled four matches at the end of the year. The team played tough all season, due to no team being a dominant force over Maryland.

In the ACC Tournament, the Terps tied with Wake Forest. The extraordinary point of the ACC Tournament is that all the teams are in the top 35 in the nation. The ACC is also the second conference leader in depth.

Some All-Around plays were performed by the Terps. Craig Hardenburgh finished the season with a singles record of 12-5. Hardenburgh also went to the semi-finals in the ACC Singles Tournament. The doubles combination of Olson and Madan came within a hairline of winning the ACC Doubles Tournament, losing 7-6 in the final set to number one, Duke.

Bob Weise went on his own over the summer to gain some grand prix qualifying points toward the pro tour.

The team had a productive fall with many of the players gaining experience. In the two tournaments played, Maryland finished second out of four teams at the Washington and Lee Invitational and finished third out of nine teams at the Navy Invitational.

Coach Doyles' outlook for the future is good, with the addition of freshman, Inaki Calba, who was the number one junior player in 1978 and now is sixth ranked in Mens' from Venezuela; Gary Kittay from Baltimore; Blaise Keatting from Michigan and John Frank from Maryland.

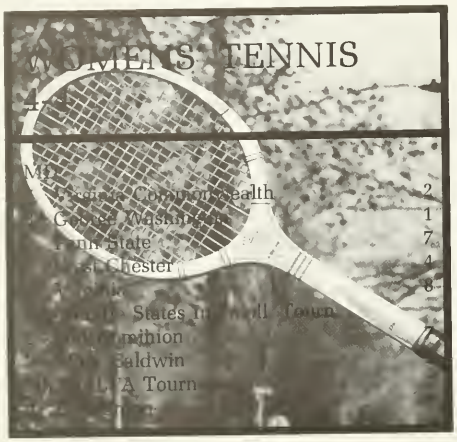
WOMENS' TENNIS



DEUCE EVEN SEASON

The 1979 Womens' Tennis Team and their first year coach, Sylvia Feldman, achieved an overall record of 4-4 and a record 1-4 in the ACC.

In the individual tournaments the Terrapins had a good season. In the George Mason Tournament, the team placed third out of 19 schools, while winning the second flight, and begin the runner up in the third and fourth flights. In the ACC Tournament, the Terps came away with a 6th place finish. In the Salisbury Tournament, the team place 5th while they managed to gain the semi-finals in the singles championship level.

Coach Feldman feels the return of Betsy Jablonski and the addition of Freshman Caryn Schnidler, who won her State High School Championship and ranked seventh in the 1979 MALTA Sectional Rankings, will benefit the team immensely.

Coach Feldman's outlook on the team is one of promise because they seem tougher and they work daily to gain the physical and mental toughness they need. She looks forward to an improved team in the spring and fall.

BASEBALL STRIKES OUT SEASON

The 1979 Maryland Baseball team, under the command of Coach Elton S. (Jack) Jackson ended the season with a disappointing 15-20-1 record.

Due to the lack of experience and poor weather conditions the team suffered. The team started the season with 3 freshman, 6 sophomores, and 1 junior. It was considered a young team, who with a little more experience would have had a better season. The defense playing was excellent but, the hitting wasn't up to par.

The high point of the season came on a one hit victory over Clemson, the only loss which Clemson had in the conference. The Terrapins finished third in the ACC.

Some key injuries that hurt the season was: Clifton Packer hurt his knee and Gordon Hawkins, who was drafted by the Texas Rangers out of high school, suffered an arm injury.

Coach Jackson termed this as a rebuilding year with a chance to get some experience. Most of the players were in summer leagues to stay in shape. Two strong points were: Scott Smith, an All-Star pitcher in the Industrial League and Pete Sinopoli, who played in the U.S. and Pan American games.

The Terps then came back to post a 40-3-1 record in the Fall to make the coaches very anxious for the spring season to roll around.

Coach Jackson feels they are loaded with talent, pitching, good defense, and plenty of experience. The strong part of the team will be in their pitching, with Smith and Sinopoli.

GOLFERS BOGEY SPRING, BIRDIE FALL

The 1979 Golf Team under the supervision of Coach Randy Hoffman, went through a mediocre spring, but returned in the fall with a much improved team. The reason for the off season was due to bad weather in the early spring, not leaving enough time for practice before a few matches.

The team under the leaderships of co-captains, Eric Smith and Larry Jones, started off the season with a 9th place finish at the Marshall Invitational at West Virginia. This seemed to be the tone that was set for the rest of the season.

In match play, the team was undefeated, 7-0, however rankings are based on the school that finish in high caliber tournaments, which the Terps didn't achieve. But as the season progressed, experience prevailed and they finished first in the Navy Academy Invitational. The Terps also took low individual honors by Fred Funk with a 78-69. Followed by Eric Smith with a 74-74. Funk also finished ninth of 120 players in the Southern Intercollegiate Tournament.

In the ACC tournament, the Terps finished 6th, their worse finish in 10 years. Bob Daly was low man, as he finished 8th.

The summer was a productive time for some Maryland golfers. A few took individual awards: Fred Funk won the Mid-Atlantic Amateur title in West Virginia, Larry Jones won the Kendridge Tournament in Virginia and Steve Smith won the Virginia Amateur and the Virginia Open.

In the fall, Maryland was one of the outstanding teams while finishing 2nd out of 20 teams. Also Mike Richter, who tied for first place in the Yale Invitational Individual Tournament and Eric Smith, who finished 5th in the Jim Corbilt Tournament. Maryland placed 13th out of 18 teams. The reason for this is due to a player signing the wrong card giving seven strokes away. In the Kings Mill Invitational, Maryland finished first out of 12 teams with Eric Smith coming in second with a 74-75 score. In the final tournament, the Johns Hopkins Invitational, the Terps finished first out of 12 teams, while playing second team. The low honors were awarded to Marty Vybihal and Steven Lavoie, who tied at 74.

This year with an earlier spring schedule and some good weather, the team should be in the running for high honors.

SOCCER TEAM PASSES OUT

The 1979 Soccer Team, under the direction of Coach Jim Dietsch, had a very frustrating year. Their overall record of 5 wins and 12 losses is misleading.

The team outplayed most of their opponents, but failed to score on offense. They called the season the "Snake Bite," because ten out of the twelve losses were by one goal; five in double overtime, and eight of which they out played their opponent.

The highlights of the season came in defeating Penn State and Old Dominion in the season finale, knocking them out of the playoffs.

Ron McKeever was the Terrapins' leading scorer followed by freshman, Ed Gauss. Also Scott Boddery received All South and All ACC Honors as Halfback.

The team, which consisted of ten freshmen will be a team of the future, with only losing five seniors. Two freshman; G.A. Reid and Nick Wiener are high on the coach's starting from day one.

FIELD HOCKEY TEAM GETS FOULED IN NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

The 1979 Field Hockey team under the direction of head coach Sue Tyler proved to be one of the top teams in the country. Sue Tyler stated, "This has been the best season in Maryland history." The team finished with a final record of 15-4-4 for the year and ranked number three in the country. A few players that contributed to the season are: Denise Wescott, the goalkeeper, recorded eight shutouts and Karen Cocker, fullback, was outstanding on the defense end. Also, Judy Pogerty, was the leading scorer for the season as center forward. Sandy Lanahan played throughout the year guarding the top scorer on every team. Coach Tyler said, "She was key to the low scoring games, a very tough defensive player who can't be beat one on one."

Another of the top players was Laura LeMire who was selected as a second team All-American and granted a tryout for the Olympics.

The team's losses in the regular season were extremely close. For instance, in the games with Davis and Elkins we lost by only one goal, and lost in the Penn State game by two goals.

In post season playing, the Terps played tough, while losing to Penn State, 3-2 in the Regional Tournament and then a loss to Long Beach, 2-1 in the Semi-Finals of the National Tournament. The team then went on to win the consolation game to finish third in the country.

The highlights of the season came when we beat Ursinias, for the first time and defeating West Chester, the four time defending National Champs, twice in one season.

GRAPPLERS PIN DOWN OPPONENTS

The Maryland Wrestling team, under John McHugh's coaching, were going through a rebuilding period and made a respectable showing. Their big losses were in the 134 pound and 158 pound class, but despite this, the team felt they could compete with the league powers.

After two early all season losses the Terps bounced back to beat the defending ACC champ, N.C. State 23-20 in a closely fought match. The two outstanding feats for the Terps came at the 167 pound class with junior, Kevin Colabucci and in the heavy weight category junior, Bob Tornstall.

The Terps had an up and down season, never really reaching the potential they thought they could, however a respectable showing did make the season somewhat of a satisfactory one.

TO NATIONAL PROMINENCE

The 1979-80 basketball team under the direction of Charles "Lefty" Driesell improved from what had been anticipated. So called "experts" predicted the team would finish no better than sixth in the final ACC standings because a strong center was not recruited. However, "Lefty" Driesell pulled the trump card and moved "Buck" Williams to center and Ernie Graham to forward. The country forsaw a mediocre showing for the Terps, but they proved them wrong.

The Terps finished number one in the regular season. Center "Buck" Williams started controlling the league at his position following an early injury which sidelined him for most of the first half of the season. Williams dominated all ACC centers by outscoring and out rebounding all of them, with the exception of Dukes Giminiski, they were tied.

Greg Manning, who went from point guard to shooting guard, put forth a slow start but went out to be tops in the league for shooting percentages and free throw shooting. He was also named sixth in the country in field goal shooting (64 percent) and fifth in free throw shooting (91 percent).

Albert King, the accepted team leader, put in his first showing in his three year stint at Maryland. King, who raised game high at 32 points was one of the leagues top scorers with a 21.7 point per game average and also averaging six rebounds a game.

Ernie Graham, who was moved from shooting guard to forward, averaged 17 points a game. He also was able to pull down eight rebounds a game.

"Dutch" Morley and Reggie Jackson split time at the point guard position for the year. Jackson proved to be a better scorer towards the end of the year, but Morley proved very effective in assists and steals.

Taylor Baldwin, who started as center for the injured "Buck" Williams, got to the point where his slam dunks were crowd amazers.

The Terps started off the year with a strong showing of an 11-1 record. An early ACC loss to N.C. State invoked the team and they proceeded to win six straight games before a heart breaking loss to Clemson. The Terps then loss their next ACC game to Duke before they went on to defeat Wake Forest for the ACC regular season championship. All the losses were ones that had been road games with low scoring differences. The Terps as a team were ranked third in the country in field shooting (54.5 percent).

FINISH IN HIGH ACCORD

The 1979-80 Womens' Basketball team with Chris Weller as Head Coach, came to be one of the top ranked teams in the country, reaching national prominence.

Kris Kirchner, the only starter to remain this year and the 1979 Washington Post's Player of the Year, who led the team in scoring an average of 20.1 points and 12 rebounds a game. Others players to return were, Pam Reaves, a guard, who scored close to 13 points per game and Krystal Kimberly the senior captain, who played during the summer with AIA.

A top recruit, Debbie Lytle, filled into the teams game plan well, as she started as a playmaker, handling the job by leading the team in assists with a 5 per game average and adding 8 points and 4.5 rebounds per game.

Due to the strong team players, Coach Weller is once again looking forward to going to the national tournament.

The team started off the season by winning its first four games and then began a downhill turn by losing five out of the next six games. However, the team bounced back to prepare for the ACC Tournament. The Terps met their match at the championship, losing to the N.C. State team. Although, following the tournament the team finished with victories over Delaware and St. Joseph's gaining a post season bid in Regional Action.

SPIKERS VOLLEY TO VICTORY

The University Volleyball team under Barbara Drum, head coach, directed the Terps to finish the season with a 29-15 record.

The successful outcome of this season was due to the help of strong returning letterman; Linda Brody who was setter and hitting were Barbara Bunting, Barbara Donlon, Joanne Lindblade, Carol Thompson, and Kay Freeman.

The Terrapins played a rigorous schedule, finding themselves in six straight weekend tournaments including their own. Despite an up and down tournament result, they managed to pull together for a strong finish in their host tournament where they placed second against top notch teams.

The team opened up the EAIAW Tournament with a victory over Temple and George Washington in straight sets. However, tough competition caused an upset for the Terrapins by losing to Rutgers and Georgetown in the quarter finals.

The overall outlook on the season was acceptional, with the only illusion being the championship.

CONSECUTIVE ACC CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1979 Mens' Track Team, under the coaching of Frank Costello, had an excellent season. The team was ranked sixth in the country and in the top 10 overall. They were also placed sixth indoors and eighth outdoors.

The highlight of the season was the Penn relays in which Maryland dominated every other team present. This was the first time it had been done in the history of the relays.

The team as a whole finished first in the Virginia Invitational, second in the Quad Meet and first in the EAIAW Regional Championships. To add to these accomplishments, they won the ACC for the 24th straight year. Also, sophomore sensation, Renaldo Nehemiah broke records all year long. His highlight was setting the record in the 110 Meter High Hurdles at 13:00 seconds. Ian Pyka also set school records in the shut-putt. The added strengths of Chris Persons, a freshman helped the team greatly, according to coach Costello, he is of national caliber. Dennis Ivory, in the triple jump, David Ungraty in the half mile, and Bobby Calhoun in sprints and the long jump helped the team immensely.

From the Maryland team there are six Olympic candidates: Skeets Nehemiah, Greg Robertson, Chris Persons, Ian Pyka, Dennis Ivory, and Bob Calhoun.

The 1979 Womens' Track team opened the season finishing in first place in the Virginia Invitational, which presented a hopeful outlook for the season said Coach Stan Pitts.

However, a rigorous quad meet found the Terps finishing second, behind Tennessee by a mere seven points. But the Terps, a highly regarded team entered the EAIAW Regional Championships taking first place. Proving that they are a powerhouse team.

The team consisted of some accomplished players, Paula Girven, who was an All-American High Jumper in 1978 followed by Jalene Chase, who was an All-American High Jumper in 1979. Other players who added strength to the team were Linda Miller, a middle distance runner, Mary Walsh, 300 and up, and Leola Toomer in the sprint events.

GRIDDERS GET

INTERCEPTED BY LEAGUE FOES

The 1979 University of Maryland football season was a rollercoaster ride, with ups and downs throughout.

The season began on a down note, with three pre-season All-ACC picks sidelined with injuries and out for the year. These three - Lloyd Burress, Eric Seivers and Marlin Van Horn along with George Scott, who was dismissed from school for academic and drug-related reasons, were supposed to provide the backbone of this year's Terrapin team.

It was apparent that a young team would take the field for the Terps, but as head coach Jerry Claiborne said, "A good program replaces good people with good people." For the most part, Claiborne was proved correct.

Maryland began the season, in hopes of reaching a bowl game for the seventh straight year, with a home game against Villanova before 31,684 fans. The hosts came away with a 24-20 win over the stubborn team from Pennsylvania. Starting quarterback Mike Tice, at 6'7" the tallest player at his position in the nation, led the team with a 9 completions in 15 attempts performance. Charlie Wysocki, a sophomore tailback making his first start ever had an auspicious debut with 161 yards in 32 rushing attempts.

The rollercoaster was starting to cruise upwards because the following week turned out to be the Terps finest moment of the year. Playing at Clemson in "Death Valley" - the nickname for the Tigers' home stadium, Maryland came away with a convincing 19-0 shutout victory.

Once again, Charlie Wysocki led the way to victory with 188 yards in 32 attempts including a 45-yard run in the first half of the ballgame. At this point Wysocki had established himself as a more than capable replacement for Steve Atkins (last year's All-America tailback) and George Scott, and also as one of the NCAA's top rushing leaders.

Dale Castro, the junior placekicker and punter, put through four field-goals to aid the Terp cause and focus attention on his kicking prowess. He also punted 10 times to keep Clemson in bad field position all day.

The "shutout" defense was led by linebacker Brian Matera, and tackles Ed Gail and Mike Corvino. Also safety Ralph Lary chipped in with three timely interceptions (which tied a Md. record), all which stopped potential Clemson scoring drives.

The following game at home against Mississippi State, the Terps literally "kicked" the opposing team off the field. Dale Castro, with four first half field goals (tying an NCAA record) and a total of five for the game led Maryland to victory. Also starring for the Terps were receiver Jan Carinci, Mike Tice, Charlie Wysocki, Ralph Lary and linebacker Darnell Dailey.

At this point the Terrapins had an unblemished 3-0 record, but then came the down part of the rollercoaster.

Playing at the University of Kentucky, the Terps suffered a 14-7 defeat to the Wildcats in which the offense was almost non-existent. This was a pivotal game because it started what was to be a crucial mid-season slump.

Then it was back home to face Penn St., before 52,348 screaming fams. But again the Terps were badly beaten, this time by a 27-7 margin.

The downfall continued against two ACC foes with losses to N.C. State (7-0) and Wake Forest (25-17).

Again the offense sputtered and QB Mike Tice was replaced by Bob Milkovich against the surprising Demon Deacons of Wake Forest. But Milkovich had little luck and was soon put back on the bench in favor of Tice.

The rollercoaster began to rise again with an easy 27-0 win against a hapless Duke University team. The offense and defense both played well and the team evened its record at 4-4.

Tailbacks Wayne Wingfield and Tim Whittie both went over the 100 yard mark replacing the injured Charlie Wysocki. The consecutive field goal streak of Dale Castro continued with two more field goals against the Blue Devils.

Against the Tarheels of the University of North Carolina at Byrd Stadium, the Terps pulled out an exciting 17-14 win. Featured in this game was the 16th straight successful field goal attempt by Castro, which tied an NCAA record. The record tying field goal also won the game late in the fourth quarter for the Terrapins.

The Terps finished off the season with two convincing wins over Louisville and Virginia. These last two games featured the running of a now-healthy Charlie Wysocki who had over 400 yards. Wysocki finished the season with an ACC-leading 1180 yards rushing in 247 attempts.

Unfortunately, the Terps late season surge was not enough to get them invited to a bowl game. Therefore, Maryland's post-season appearance streak stopped at six.

The rollercoaster effect, after the three early wins and the four mid-season losses, ended on a high note with the last four victories of the season.

Gazing ahead at next year, the future looks bright. Young players such as defensive stalwarts Mike Corvino, Greg Vanderhout, Ralph Lary, Darnell Dailey, Mark Duda and others will be back. Offensively, Dale Castro, Charlie Wysocki, Mike Tice and Jan Carinci will lead the Terps. Also, Lloyd Burress, Eric Seivers and Marlin Van Horn will be back for one more year of Maryland football.

Looking at the season in retrospect, the highlights of the 1979 Maryland football season were — Dale Castro, with his kicking heroics; Charlie Wysocki, who established himself as a great running back; and the convincing win over a strong Clemson team on the road.

Terrapin Yearbook

3101 Main Dining Hall
University of Maryland
College Park, Md. 20740

As I write this letter, the book is going through the final stages, the last touches are being added and looked over before shipping them out to the presses. Looking over this year, the theme, "Coping With The Unexpected," was an understatement for the time was had in producing this yearbook. It seemed as though everything that could go wrong did, but obviously, here is the final product. And I know that I speak for the staff when I say a lot of love and hard work went into this yearbook. One thing I realized through working on it, is that whenever I pick up a book, magazine, or any type of publication, I appreciate it so much more, for one really takes for granted the work that goes into producing just one page.

I would like to thank my staff for putting up with my nagging, pushing, and sometimes insecurities in producing the book. First, Cindy Goren, Business Manager, with her staff, senior portraits ran smoothly. Secondly, to John Kammerman, Sports Editor, who entered in the middle of the year and did a good job of covering the sports for us. To Alan Kresse, Photographer Editor, without you half of the book wouldn't be here, thanks for being there and putting up with Stacy's and my notes. To Sherry, for helping out when things became unbearable. And a special thanks to Stacy Cushner, Lay-out Editor, I can't think of words to describe what it has meant to have you on the staff; the times we've watched the sun rise over campus, and looking for a munchie or picture. I just want to say that it couldn't have been done without you. And a final thanks to Mr. Greg Nygard, for being so helpful and especially patient with us. I would also like to thank Michael Fribust and Nancy French for listening to my gripes.

Yours truly,

Mindy Berman
